LONGFORD ACADEMY 8
Investigation and repair of significant building fabric
Monday 8 May to Saturday 13 May 2017

The ‘Longford Academy’ (LA8) is a 6-day program in the conservation of traditional structures and fabric at Woolmers and Brickendon Estates, Longford, Tasmania (World Heritage inscribed).

- Understand environmental impacts, deterioration and how to deal with complex challenges
- Investigate significant fabric, buildings and sites
- Learn how to obtain sustainable conservation outcomes
- Share knowledge and experience with conservation practitioners
- Participate in hands-on activities with experienced practitioners
- Relax and learn in an outstanding cultural landscape

Presenters
APT presenters have extensive experience in conservation and education. Heritage conservation specialists demonstrate techniques and lead hands-on activities at selected sites in the field.

Activities
Activities include inspections, workshops, demonstrations and direct involvement in conservation works across both sites. More information at http://aptaustralasia.wordpress.com Please note that practical works will continue on Monday and Tuesday (15 & 16 May) and all participants are invited to continue learning by staying on and participate on these days at no additional cost.

Participation Fees
A participation fee of $750 ($600 APT members) covers materials, site costs, refreshments and lunches. The participation fee includes two structured face-to-face workshops on days 2 and 6.
