Conserving it Together – Heritage at Risk

Contents

2 Editorial: Culture: Conserving it together
KERIME DANIS AND MARY KNAGGS
TOGETHER WITH ELIZABETH EDWARDS

8 CONTRIBUTORS

14 Are we really prepared for disaster? Responding to the lessons from Christchurch
CATHERINE FORBES

26 Climate change, sea-shore erosion and the disappearance of cultural sites: Putting the record of archaeological remains in Islanders’ hands
CHRISTOPHE SAND

36 Applying and communicating Indigenous land management knowledge systems and practices to climate change adaptation
MARTIN BRYANT, PENNY ALLAN AND LIZZIE YARINA

50 Architectural heritage under threat: Disaster and the difficulty of conservation: A case study of Kinmen Island, Taiwan
YI-JEN TSENG

62 Sustainable planning and management solutions for the flood-damaged cultural landscape of Nan’anzui, Wuhan, People’s Republic of China
XU YING AND MA ZHILIANG

74 The changing fabric and use of Levuka’s historic residences and shop houses
MASAMI FUKUMOTO, TSUGUTO EZURA AND KIHO YAOITA

88 Australia and Pacific Island countries: The need to collaborate to protect underwater cultural heritage
ANDREW VIDUKA

Continues over page
Understanding the meaning of ‘shipwreck’: The relationships between cultural and environmental influences in north-eastern Australia
GRANT LUCKMAN

Prospects for World Heritage in the equatorial and south-western Pacific region
KEVIN JONES