LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS

MARK MACKAY lives in Sydney and lectures at the Power Institute of Fine Arts at the University of Sydney. She is a foundation member of the New South Wales National Trust's Cemeteries Committee and was largely responsible for the recent exhibition 'In Memoriam: The Victorian Way of Death' held at Elizabeth Bay House.

RICHARD AITKEN is an architect and partner of the Melbourne-based firm Nigel Lewis and Associates. The firm has undertaken a large number of urban conservation studies and historic site surveys. Information gained from these studies has combined with a research interest in garden architecture to form the basis of the cemetery shelter article.

NEIL CLEREHAN is an architect and principal of Clerehan Cran, a firm working in South Yarra and carrying out work in the eastern states and Singapore. He was the first President of MUASC and more recently held the same office in the RAIA. He edited Lines, Smudges and the Age weekly housing section. He is the Chairman of the Council for the Historic Environment.

GRAEME BUTLER is an architectural historian with a particular interest in twentieth century architecture. He is the author of the recently published municipal history of the Shire of Buln Buln and a number of urban conservation studies.
