TERENCE LANE is a Melbourne Arts graduate and is the Senior Curator of Decorative Arts at the National Gallery of Victoria.

PHYLLIS MURPHY is a Melbourne architect who practised for many years with her husband, John. She has now retired and lives at Kyneton. Recently critic Norman Day described her as one of the 'young lions' of the nineteen fifties. In 1981 she assembled an exhibition of early wallpapers which was shown at Ballarat, Melbourne and Sydney. She was the author of The Decorated Wall: Eighty Years of Wallpaper in Australia and is currently undertaking a thesis in the subject.

MELVIN DRUMMOND began his career as a wardrobe designer after obtaining a Diploma of Illustration at the Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology. He has worked as a wardrobe production designer with both the Australian Ballet and the Victorian State Opera and has maintained a strong interest in the decorative arts.
