List of Contributors

JOHN CLARE is an architectural graduate of the University of Melbourne and research for this article was undertaken as part of his final year thesis. At present he is working in the United Kingdom.

IRVINE GREEN is a professional photographer, based in Melbourne, known for his photographs of architecture and of old buildings for the National Trust. He grew up in a house in South Oakleigh designed and built by A J Elmore.

ANGELA TAYLOR has graduate and post-graduate qualifications in history from Sydney University and the University of Edinburgh. She has lived in Blackburn for the past 10 years and is researching the houses of A J Elmore as part of a long-term local history project.