Senior Heritage Consultant
- Established team with strong career development opportunities
- Flexible and dynamic environment
- Work as part of a multi-disciplinary team of industry experts & leaders
- Deliver projects across a diverse range of projects & clients
- Be truly influential in strategically advising clients
- Sydney CBD office

Who We Are
Urbis is a market-leading firm with the goal of shaping the cities and communities of Australia for a better future. Drawing together a network of the brightest minds, Urbis consists of practice experts, working collaboratively to deliver fresh thinking and independent advice and guidance – all backed up by real, evidence-based solutions.

Working across the areas of planning, design, policy, heritage, valuations, transactions, economics and research, the expert team at Urbis connect their clients in the public and private sectors to a better outcome, every time.

The Opportunity
Currently, an opportunity has arisen in our Sydney office for a suitably qualified and experienced Senior Consultant with a professional work history of 5+ years’ in Heritage advisory consulting or related field.

We are looking for a lateral thinker and outstanding communicator seeking an opportunity to be involved in city-shaping projects for a diverse range of private and public sector clients. As a key member of the team, you will be involved in conducting research across a diverse, high profile and challenging range of projects, providing reports and strategic advice to our clients.

We also encourage archaeologists (European or aboriginal) or heritage architects to apply for this position.

About You
As a Senior Consultant there is a requirement to demonstrate an in depth understanding of Heritage principles and an ability to provide a range of advice to clients on a range of projects including heritage studies, conservation management plans, heritage impact statements, interpretation, archival recording and heritage architectural conservation supervision.

As a Senior Consultant, your responsibilities will include:
- Direction and assisting more junior staff with assessments
- Ability to work autonomously on mid level projects and provide advice to clients
- Work across a wide range of applications with proven ability to develop proposals, assistant tenders & submissions for potential projects
- Project lead under the directors in the undertaking of projects, client and other stakeholder relationships and work to specification and deadlines
This position would suit someone who has a minimum of five years’ experience in a similar role with a combination of the following competencies:

- Detailed understanding of Heritage design principles and the ability to apply them
- Demonstrated understanding of and ability to apply appropriate statutory heritage and planning legislation to heritage issues, particularly the Heritage Act 1977
- Excellent client, project and time management skills
- Displays an ability to generate innovative solutions to situations and effectively explores alternatives and positions to reach outcomes that gain the support and acceptance of all parties
- Ability to undertake heritage research utilising multiple sources and methodologies; and present a preliminary assessment of findings
- Demonstrated ability in research, problem solving and lateral interpretation skills, report writing and communication skills
- Demonstrated understanding of architectural styles, fabric identification and analysis and building conservation
- Experience writing Heritage Impact Statements, Heritage Assessments and Conservation Management Plans

Other non-essential but beneficial skills applicable to the role depend on background and experience include any or:

- Architect or architectural drafting experience (autocad)
- European or aboriginal archaeological experience
- Photoshop

Why Urbis?

Working for Urbis means working with individuals who are passionate about what they do. It’s a place where you are encouraged to share your ideas in a professional but friendly office environment. To find out more about us visit our website at www.urbis.com.au/careers.

Urbis is a firm that truly values its people and provides a broad range of benefits which include a competitive remuneration package, salary continuance insurance, regular social activities, health and wellbeing programs and ongoing training and professional development opportunities.

Urbis is committed to fostering a work environment that is inclusive, supports flexibility, and welcomes diversity. We are proud to be an equal opportunity employer. Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are encouraged to apply.

How to apply?

If you are an enthusiastic candidate, with the desire to become part of a driven and highly professional team, email our HR team directly to Anastasia Zappert at azappert@urbis.com.au applications close 1st June 2018 (3 weeks). We are looking to appoint this position as soon as possible so encourage applications be lodged as soon as possible.